FIERCE FIGHT FOR CONTROL.

Brownlow and Sells to Contest for Nomination to Congress.

[Special to Times-Dispatch.]
Bristol, Va., February 14.—The action of the Republican Committee of the First Tennessee District on Saturday in calling a primary election as a means of making the next nomination for Congress, and fixing the date for the primary as March 19, is the beginning of a fierce fight for control between the Brownlow and anti-Brownlow factions in the district. Ambifour Sam Sells, a present State Senator from the First Tennessee District, and said to be in favor with the contest against Brownlow for the nomination. Mr. Sells is a born fighter, while Brownlow was never known to surrender. It will, in all probability, be the bitterest fight in years, as Sells is already scoring the record of Representative Brownlow, and charging him with flagrant nepotism, in that Mr. Sells asserts that the Congressman has secured lucrative positions from the government for practically every member of his family.

FOR MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

Farmville Citizens Consider Purchase of Water and Severage Systems.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Farmville, Va., February 14.—The question of municipal ownership of the water and sewerage systems of Farmville is now up for the consideration of taxpayers. At present the town owns and operates the light plant, and there are those who believe it to the best interests of the community that the water and sewer plants to be under the same control.

The join committee of the Town Council and the Doard of Trade, having in charge the matter of town ownership, thus presented a complete report on the subject of municipal ownership of these systems, with the recommendation that the town buy and control them both. The matter was referred back to the committee with request to make a more thorough and scientific investigation, including the cost.
